According to God's Standards

Frank: Yeah, I think I'm a pretty good guy.

Jim: Frank, are you good enough to get into Heaven?

Frank: Oh, sure.

Jim: You know, some day you're going to stand before God.

Frank: Oh, I'll do all right.

Jim: O.K. Have you ever told a lie?

Frank: Everybody does.

Jim: So according to God's standard, you're a liar.

Frank: No I'm not!

Jim: Well, you told a lie. The Ten Commandments say not to, therefore, you're a liar. Have you ever stolen anything?

Frank: Well, I borrowed a few things.

Jim: Did you give them back?

Frank: No.

Jim: Okay, so far, you're a lying thief.

Frank: Wait a minute. How can I defend myself against those kinds of standards?

Jim: These are just two of God's commandments, there are more.

Frank: You make me sound really bad.

Jim: Frank, compared to most people you are a wonderful person, but the standard is not 'other people', it's God.

Frank: Well, then nobody measures up.

Jim: Right. That's why we need a Savior; someone to pay the penalty of 'not measuring up' for us. And that Savior is Jesus.

Frank: So, standing before God without Jesus is not a good idea?

Jim: I wouldn't try it.
