A Good Guy and a Fence

Neighbor Hey, neighbor, beautiful day, isn't it?

Bob: Yeah...Hey, I wanted to talk to you about this fence, remember we both agreed to pay half?

Neighbor Bob, instead of reimbursing you, I've decided to become a really good person.

Bob: What?

Neighbor Hey what's better, getting paid for half a fence, or living next door to a great neighbor? Hmm?

Bob: But we had an agreement. And you're not paying me. That's a bad thing.

Neighbor But I don't do bad things. I'm...I'm a good person. Why I've been doing nothing BUT good things for a whole year! In fact, the most recent polls show that 99 out of 100 people like me. Doesn't that prove I'm good?

Bob: Look, if you are not going to pay me, you could at least admit you wronged me. I'm willing to forgive you, but help me here.

Neighbor Why do I need your forgiveness? Everybody loves me.

Bob: Well, 99 out of 100 anyway.

Announcer: The Bible declares that because we have sinned we have wronged God. Any attempt at being good is fruitless, until first we ask for God's forgiveness. Have you asked?
